Follow Up Flag: Follow up
Flag Status: Completed

Good morning, Jenni,

We have been made aware of this proposed solar farm at the address noted above.

The proposed area is on the line of Offa's Dyke, although any trace of the monument is either buried deep beneath the current surface or was removed totally by the industrial complex built at the end of the 19th century.

The HIA provided does take into account the industrial heritage to the east, although vegetation and topography would screen this site from those heritage structures.

In this case, there would be no further archaeological recommendations.

Kind regards,

Neil
