Good morning Sharon,

I hope you are well!

Our paths crossed while I was at Fisher German working on Tupa, I am now at Carter Jonas and will be your contact for this application along with my colleagues Harry Bolton and Andy Cowan.

Following on from your question below, the Proposed Development is used for an extrusion process involving machines using plastic pellets and converting these into plastic moulds (such as a triangular 'corner' piece) and tubes. These are ultimately used for goalposts etc (see below for illustration) as part of Net World Sport's core business as a sports equipment manufacturer and distributor.

The process does not require any operatives to wear protective equipment as a result of the low impact nature of the process. The Proposed Development would only be used to support operations relating to the Applicant, Net World Sport. Whilst the products manufactured might change over time to respond to demand, it is likely that they would be similar in scale and methodology for producing, noting Net World Sport' core business operation.

Hopefully the above clarifies the Applicants position, however please let me know if you have any further questions.

Have a lovely morning,

Planner

Carter Jonas

Good afternoon Harry,

Within the submitted application documents, on the drawing labelled 'Proposed Site Plan' the building is referred to as 'Plastic Process Unit'. However, on the 'Proposed Elevations' and 'Proposed Roof Plan', the drawings refer to a 'Plastic Extrusion Shed'.

Could you please confirm what the building is to be used for – will it be for the storage of materials or will there be an actual extrusion process facility in the building? If there is to be an extrusion process within the building please could further details be provided regarding the process / types of material to be used?

Many thanks,

Sharon
