Hi Simon,

The decision to challenge a permit would sit outside my team, so I won't comment on this.

There is capacity for circa 5 dwellings at the treatment works, I understand it would be the local authorities decision of how to apportion this.

I trust this is helpful, let me know if there's anything else I can assist with.

Best regards,

Jake MacMillan

Hello Jake,

Reply received from senior policy officer:

There were no applications on my list early last year served by Halton, yours came in after my list (which hasn't been updated) but I would be surprised if there are any more. Jake should comment on capacity for your application alone, if there are any more, I very much doubt it, we will consult on them separate.

A word of caution, while Halton has a permit, DCWW could in theory challenge it, until the window for appeal closes on the 21st Feb, we shouldn't grant permission.

Thanks

Hi Simon,

I understand there is limited capacity at this treatment works, can you advise what sites are pending consideration?

Best regards,

Jake MacMillan

Good Morning Simon,

For note and maybe of some assistance to you, please see the list of revised permits is published here: Natural Resources Wales / Phosphorus limits on environmental permits for waste water treatment work discharges. This does show Halton with a revised Permit.

I will now await Dwr Cymru's response and I will then be in a position to make a formal response if this is acceptable to you

Kind Regards
Ruth

Hello,

I understand that there has been a recent development with regard to Halton WTW.

Please advise if this changes your consultation responses.

Many thanks
