Dear Sarah

Thank you for following this up. The reduction in scale is very welcome; the proposed extension is still very large in proportion to the existing building, which will become subsidiary to the extension rather than the other way around, but the design is unobjectionable and the impact on the significance of the existing building is negligible, so we have no basis for objecting on heritage grounds.

Hi Christopher,

Following your comments made regarding this site, I have now received amended plans reducing the size and height of the proposal (see attached) and would be grateful for your comments. Please note the extension has been designed to take into account the accessibility needs of the applicant.

Regards

Sarah.
