Dear Justin and Matthew

Thank you for forwarding the evaluation report.

It is clear from the results that many of the geophysical anomalies are false readings derived from natural strata rather than archaeological features. The two small gullies that were identified are most likely associated with field boundaries or drainage and are of low archaeological significance. There is no indication of any permanent settlement here at any period in time.

We would therefore have no further archaeological recommendations in this case and no objection to the proposed development.

Kind regards

Mark Walters
