Dear Cerys

Apologies, but I was copied in to Rob Scourfield's reply regarding the planning application for demolition of Ebeneser Chapel, Chester Street, Wrexham. The chapel, as Rob has indicated, is an outstanding example of a distinct phase of chapel building in the 1970's and early 1980's using a very specific style and form which is in complete contrast to the traditional chapel buildings that had gone before.

Obviously I am not in a position to comment on whether the application should be approved or not, but I was wondering whether, if demolition is approved, there could be ensured an opportunity for the Royal Commission to come and make a good record of the building prior to demolition work being carried out?

Many thanks
Susan
