Morning Sharon,

I have had the client on the telephone with regards to the above mentioned site.

He informs me a new tile sample has been submitted following your initial comment re the first sample.

I was wondering if you have had chance to check the sample and if you are happy with the tile submitted??

Many thanks

Sharon,

Many thanks for that it was Steve from our office that dropped off the roofing tile sample.

I have forwarded your email to the client and await their response/sample.

Many thanks

Hi Dafydd,

Not sure who from your office dropped the Marley modern tile sample in our office.

Given the location, I am of the opinion that the Marley modern tile is inappropriate for the location.

I would suggest the use of a Russell Lothian tile (Slate Grey). This has a much thinner leading edge and a mock joint which will help give the appearance of smaller tiles.

I have received a brick sample from 'Grow Property' - Ecstock Hampton Rural Blend - for which I confirm approval. I would be grateful if you could advise your client of my approval of this brick.

I look forward to receiving further details of the roofing material for consideration.

Regards
Sharon
