

To whom it may concern.

Having already voiced our objections to change of use regarding the Tyn Y Capel, we feel we must do it again.

With regards to the "Tyn" we feel that the area would be losing a facility that would never be replaced. We would have more Care Homes in the area than Public Houses.

The Tyn Y Capel Bar & Kitchen is up for sale, we feel the price is inflated and is almost obstructive to anyone wishing to purchase the business considering the signs were removed in February and it ceased to trade as a public house. You would expect the books to show that the business was being rundown prior to application for change of use as the top room was already being run as a Day Centre for the Elderly.

When the Tyn y Capel re-opened after the last revamp it was a busy and vibrant place, that served good food, it was an asset to the area. After a time there was discord among the locals when the pubs' teams were no longer wanted at the Tyn and the owners tried to make it more like a City bar and attract different clientele.

There has been a pub on this site for generations, it is in a wonderful setting and the facilities are good. (It is the only pub in the area that is suitable for wheelchair users and people with mobility problems!) The Tyn y Capel should stay as a public house and sold at a fair price to someone who has community spirit, there would be plenty of local support as the "SAVE THE TYN" campaign goes to show.

Yours sincerely
