Hi Matthew

I don't think the condition can be removed. The applicant proposed a methodology to establish a level of development that would be acceptable prior to upgrading the junction, which could have been used to amend the condition, but we didn't agree that their methodology would work.

Margaret

Margret,

I have been through the attached response however I am not entirely sure if it means you agree the condition can be removed or whether you need further information?

Are you to confirm this?

Regards

Matthew
