Hi Simon,

This message is in regards to our previous phone call about the bamboo screening on our back wall.

In my view the bamboo isn't solid which means the light does shine through to mount view however the large trees in mount views garden would stop sunlight.

I enclose 3 photos of my back wall before my outbuildings collapsed. The back wall was previously a foot higher and it had a large chimney stack also. We had to take 3 rows of bricks off the top for safety as they were loose. I would take the bamboo screening down to the level it was before, but in my opinion mount view needs to take some off the trees if sunlight is an issue as in my opinion this would let more light in.

I feel very frustrated about the whole process including fences and drive gates as we have done everything you have asked us to do. Our intention for all the fences, gates and bamboo was for privacy to our property and in my opinion looks a lot better to how it looked previously e.g loose bricks and no gates etc. Now we are getting praised from a lot of our neighbours at how nice it looks. Our neighbour in mount view got a solicitor at the start of the dispute about the boundary forcing myself to get a solicitor to sort it out. It came back that we were in the right and the police are still involved and this is because the neighbour from mount view is being very difficult and is still continuing to harass us (the crime number can be provided if needed). I would also like to add that there are dozens of properties in and around my local area with higher fences and drive gates on a more busy road than ours on pentredwr which is a side street.

Kind Regards

Mr John Maxted
