Re : appeal at : Land north of Gatewen Road, New Broughton, Wrexham.

Welsh Government Ref/ Planning inspectorate ref : H6955/A/19/3238474

As an NHS professional, we must continually keep on top of our Professional development and maintain standards so that we represent a professional body to achieve the very same outcome and goal.

A number of highly respected, experienced individuals gave their valued opinion on the evidence available and concluded that the proposed development stated above would be to the detriment of the community and area.

Nothing regarding highways, drainage, environment, amenities, the strain of the health service has changed and I am disappointed that this matter has reached appeal status.

If we are all supposedly working to the same standards how can the outcome be different on appeal ? are you putting the professional opinions of the those into question when they have scrutinised the very same evidence that the welsh ministers will ?

Kind regards

Helen
