

To whom it may concern

I am writing to express my concern regarding an application to extend the hours of operation of the business at the above premises. I am of the opinion that the current restrictions applied are there to protect neighbouring properties and should be continued. If the restrictions were lifted, the adjacent properties would have no protection especially during bank holidays and I would question if this is necessary. The applicant is well versed in handling this type of stock and I question why this was not raised at conception of the business.

I would respectfully request that the current restrictions are maintained.
