Philip

Yes that is correct, it is for proposed building being considered.

Kind regards
Rosina

Rosina,

I've just realised my mistake with the above. Apologies – I now understand that you refer to the newly proposed building currently being considered not the main building.

Regards

Hello Rosina,

I have no objection to this. It is a relatively minor change given that the colour will be the same. In law, I cannot agree this informally and would advise that a non-material amendment application be submitted to deal with matter.

Philip

Further to the above application, we would like to confirm a change in the appearance of the agricultural building. The building will be constructed of Juniper Green box profile metal sheeting and not timber cladding as shown on the elevation plans submitted with the planning application.

I hope this is all in order.

If you have any queries please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kind regards

Rosina
