Subject: P/2017/0337 - 5 Cross Street, Holt - Demolition and rebuild of stone wall

Dear Sharon

Thank you for the consultation on this application.

The sandstone wall does not appear within the Historic Environment Record, but is within the Conservation Area.

Comparing the present wall to Google Earth imagery it is clear that the wall has been rebuilt at least twice before on the northern side. The wall is completely divorced from its original boundary extent and was probably cut through when the 19th century cottage was built on the south side. The sandstone frontage walls in Holt are probably 18th – early 19th century in date and many have been altered or repaired over time, but they are a historic feature of the street scene in the village.

Provided the wall is dismantled carefully and then replicated utilizing the same stone and with the same capping slabs in its new position on the north side of the access, we would have no objection to the dismantling of the wall.

Kind regards

Mark Walters
