No issue really. I was just thinking that if we left it too long after the works were completed and there was damage on the ground, it could be difficult to know who was responsible for causing the damage.

I don't Sean. However I know that they are eager to start and they don't take long to complete as I think there is a government deadline for grants.

Is there an issue?

Many thanks for sorting that out. I don't suppose you have a rough idea of when the construction work will be completed?

Dear Phil/Sean,

I have received a condition report of a public right of way which adjoins a development site. It was for a solar farm in Pickhill approved under P/2015/0287. The PRoW is Sesswick25.

The condition of the permission required the submission of a condition survey which has been deposited. It will allow WCBC, following the development, to determine whether severe detriment has occurred to the PRoW for the developer to rectify in the future.

I will keep a copy on my file, but I would be grateful if you could keep this on your files for reference.

Regards

Phil
