YOUR COMMENTS ON THE CASE (continued)

Having lived in Pont Adam Crescent for a number of years, I consider myself familiar enough with the B5097/Church Street to make the following comments.

This Road is far too narrow to accommodate the existing traffic, without you planning an increase.

The road is impossible for prams and wheelchairs, to use safely.

The complete absence of pavement in places makes it extremely difficult for adult pedestrian's to walk safely and when you consider that School Children are required to use it whilst making their way to and from School, it's an accident waiting to happen.

In winter this road is at times dangerous.

It's impossible in places for two vehicles to pass, School and Service busses, Trade Wagons etc., have to break the law in places, and mount the pavement if one exists to pass each other.

If this appeal is upheld, you will be placing numerous people's lives at risk.

I strongly request that you reject this appeal.
