

Dear sir(s)

I am writing to you regarding the appeal that has been had regarding the above case.

I am disputing the appeal due to the below points.

- 1) There are a lot of properties on this road already.
- 2) The builder has already spilt one property into two causing various problems.
- 3) The road is very narrow causing vehicle access a pain.
- 4) The road is un-adopted and is already in a very bad condition, more vehicles will make this worse.
- 5) Construction at this property will cause access to my drive a problem and also when I park my vehicle in front of my garage on my property the construction vehicles block the road.
- 6) Construction at this site has already started causing the road to be blocked by various workers and also the road has been dug up by various contractors causing worse damage as they have covered the works up with the road and when it has rained it has washed away leaving a big trench right across the road.
- 7) Please see attached images.
- 8) Large vehicles cannot access this road so any building materials will have to be left at the end of the road causing a separate road being blocked whilst they unload.

Thanks

Zaylie Davies
