Dear Jenni

Thank you for the consultation on this discharge of condition application.

The plans show a gabion style design for a ground surface mounted solar array in the Archaeologically Sensitive Area (ASA) marked on plans. In theory this design should prevent significant damage to archaeological features that lie close to the surface in the ASA. We have confirmed this with the archaeological consultants, Wessex Archaeology. When constructing the gabions some minor surface alteration to create a level footing may be necessary in, and immediately around, the ASA and we have advised that in this case the Condition 12 archaeological monitoring would be required to ensure important archaeology is not accidentally damaged. The applicants are aware of this requirement.

We would therefore be happy to approve the surface gabion design as shown in the plan submitted.

Kind regards

Mark Walters
